Hello,

The GPO has received your FOIA request for the database and source code to the GPO website.

The provisions of FOIA are included within the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. §§ 551-559. While both acts are applicable to Federal agencies of the United States, in defining "agency," Congress specifically excluded the legislative and judicial branches. The U.S. Government Publishing Office (GPO), which is an office of the legislative branch of the Federal Government, is therefore not subject to the provisions of FOIA.

Although GPO is not legally required to provide the information you requested, as a courtesy to you, I made inquiries about the availability of that information. GPO has previously provided you with the following response, which is the information that is responsive to your request:

Thank you for contacting U.S. Government Publishing Office.

The govinfo API provides data users with a means of programmatically accessing govinfo content and metadata. Information about the govinfo API can be found on govinfo (<https://api.govinfo.gov/docs/>) and in GPO's GitHub repository (<https://github.com/usgpo/api>).

The API requires an API.data.gov key. You can sign up for an API key here: <https://api.data.gov/signup/>. "

I hope this information is of assistance to you.

Respectfully,

/LDH/
